OUR TOWN

The Cameron Herald is 48 years old today. When the Herald began its career of usefulness Richard Coke was Governor of Texas and the constitution was just two years old. The south had begun to recover from the disaster of civil strife and carpet bag government had been overthrown in Texas. Louis Napoleon had lost the throne of France and the republic had just been launched. Bismark, the Iron Chancellor, had just concluded a war with France in which Alsace Loraine was ceded to the Germans. The German empire was in the process of formation under the direction of Bismark and France was adopting a constitution. Rutherford B. Hays was president of the United States, having been given the election after a contest notwithstanding the fact that Tilden had received a majority vote. The Spanish-American War and the World War were yet in the womb of time when the Herald made its bow to the good people of Milam County.

In celebrating its 48th birthday and tomorrow beginning a new milestone in its career, the Herald is not unmindful of the causes of its success, the principal one having its source in the hearts of the people who through the long years have sustained the paper and have made its success possible. The files of this paper are interesting. We have many old copies on hand. The management is planning a file of them for the public library and as soon as completed they will be presented. The Herald began as most weekly newspapers began, called to duty by needs felt in the absence of a good press. In humble service this paper has tried to play its part. It has made mistakes. It has had its triumphs and reverses but through it all has maintained steadfastly the desire for service and has given expression to the life and impulses of the community. The Herald enjoys today the largest circulation and patronage of its career.

We want to talk a little to the farmers. The old axiom that "make hay while the sun shines" and prepare for the rainy day, has had its significance in every age of the world. Having passed through a most disastrous drouth, raising no feed crops, the county faces a condition that is unique as well as painful. In line with the advice of bankers, merchants, farm experts and others, we want to join in telling the farmers to plant feed. Over production in cotton in 1925 has created a surplus and with an equally extensive engagement in cotton raising this year the south will be bankrupt by low priced cotton. The secret of all farm success is an equasion of production. We must raise grain and feed stuff to become permanently prosperous.

Last year more than a thousand car loads of feed were shipped into this city for farm consumption, notwithstanding the fact that late rains insured forage crops. Seasons are now right for a bumper feed and grain crop. No farmer should permit a season to pass without raising feed for two years. He should have a surplus on hand so that when the lean years come his resources are intact. Market experts, government officials and others fear cheap cotton. If the farm energy is given over to the production of cotton as in former years dangerous times are ahead for the farmers and the south. Let's think it over just a little. Cultivate that land, raise more cotton on fewer acres and more feed on more acres and the march to real independence will have begun in the fairest half of the republic.

The Herald has received many congratulations on its presentation of the new bridge across Little River for the people of Milam County. This service to the people as in all times past reflects the real desire of this paper to serve and gives an insight into the co-operation that is forthcoming from its advertsing patrons in all worthy efforts. The bridge is a really great achievement in better highway transportation and to the county officials who conceived and built this bridge go the tributes of a confident people.

Next week we are going to talk some politics.

LILIAN ATKINSON IS CANDIDATE RE-ELECTION

SEEKS RE-ELECTION FOR SECOND TERM IN OFFICE WITH FINE RECORD MADE

Miss Lilian Atkinson, county clerk of Milam County, is a candidate for re-election to that office subject to the Democratic primary election on July 24, 1926.

The announcement that Miss Atkinson will seek re-election was made this week and will be received with genuine approval by the people of Milam County who have been the benefactors of an extraordinary administration of the affairs of this office since her service began on January 1925.

In her campaign for re-election in 1924 Miss Atkinson told the people that if they should elect her to represent them in this office she would pledge her best efforts to administer its affairs well and to give to the office every possible advantage of her experience and efficiency. That Miss Atkinson has kept her pledge to the people and thereby won the confidence and esteem of the electorate of Milam county is proven by the hundreds of expressions heard on every hand praising the service she has rendered.

Miss Atkinson by reason of her experience was well acquainted with the affairs of this office when she took oath and by reason of this was able to render from the start a service that is unique for its efficiency and courtesy to the public and direct contact with the affairs of this office has given her opportunity to institute features of service that have proven decidedly advantageous to the people.

In the history of this office it is recognized that no official administering it has more thoroughly met its responsibilities or rendered greater service than Miss Atkinson. In her inauguration of features of service it is conceded perhaps that none have equaled her record. Public officials who keep their pledges and redeem in service all their promises to the pople deserve public favor and by reason of this Miss Atkinson will be accorded liberal support by the people at the polls in the primary election.

Recognizing the necessity for efficient office assistants Miss Atkinson at the beginning of her administration selected from among her friends those most capable and adopted to the work of this office by reason of their experience and familiarity with the affairs of this office. During the little more than one year of her first term Miss Atkinson maintained this force intact and the service rendered the people has been greatly efficient, widely commented upon and generally pproved. Miss Atkinson acknowledges with grateful appreciation the interest her assistants have taken in the work and her faith in them has been abundantly justified.

In making her announcement for re-election to a second term in this office Miss Atkinson asks the support of the people based on the record she has made in this office. During the campaign she will endeavor to see the voters and talk to them about the service in this office and receive from them any suggestions they may offer whereby she will be more thoroughly capable in giving them the kind of service they want.

Friends of Miss Atkinson throughout the county will be interested in her announcement for re-election and will express their approval in terms of support at the primary polls showing appreciation for the faultless public service she has rendered the people.

ROY LAW CANDIDATE FOR RE-ELECTION

SUBMITS CANDIDACY TO VOTERS OF MILAM COUNTY FOR SECOND TERM

Roy Law, tax collector for Milam County, is a candidate for re-election to that office for a second term subject to the Democratic primary election on July 24, 1926.

Mr. Law was elected to this office in the general election of 1924 and began his service to the people on the first of January 1925. He took oath of office at a time when great economic depression was on the country but in the collection of taxes he has made an excellent record that reflects credit to him and to the county electing him to this responsible place.

Mr. Law believes his first duty is to the county and the people. This conception of public service has been the guiding factor in his success he has made in the administration of the office. On entering office he began a systematic arrangement of the affairs of the office, inaugurating a number of services to the people and tax payers that have been generously approved over the county. In order to effect convenience to tax payers Mr. Law has on numerous occasions followed a well planned schedule of visits to towns throughout the county and in this way he has not only served the people but has been able to collect far above the amounts that could have otherwise been obtained with the drouth depression on.

When elected to this office Mr. Law desiring to give the best possible service to the people, began a study of tax laws and has succeeded in a very creditable way in obtaining all knowledge necessary to administer the law in collections. In addition to this Mr. Law has acquired much knowledge in regard to automobile tax laws both as to registration and the proper payment of taxes thereon. This active interest in the duties of his office has within the brief period of his service proclaimed him one of the most efficient tax collectors in the state.

In addition to applying his best talents to improve his ability for service Mr. Law has attended every state meeting possible held by the association of collectors and has thereby obtained a more thorough knowledge of tax problems.

In announcing for re-election to this office Mr. Law has the approval of his hundreds of friends throughout the county as well as the public at large and will be accorded liberal support at the polls in the July primary. He was born and reared in Milam County, spent a number of years in business in Cameron and enjoys a wide acquaintance among the people.

No greater tribute may be paid to any public official than to say the service they have rendered has met the expectations of the people and justified the confidence implied by their election. This and more may be said of the service that Mr. Law has rendered and his friends everywhere will be delighted with the announcement that he is to seek re-election.

Mr. Law will make an active canvass to see and talk with the voters and to get their ideas about rendering service in order that he may more thoroughly give to the people the servic they deserve in the administration of the office of tax collector.

CAMERON FIREMEN IN PRACTICE FOR MEET

WILL GO TO HARLINGEN FOR ANNUAL CONVENTION IN JUNE

Cameron Firemen have begun the practice for the coming races at Harlingen in June of this year according to Capt. Joe B. Lindsey who is in charge of the racing team.

The following news story has been clipped from the press telling of the work of the committees in arranging for the convention at Harlingen:

Harlingen, Texas. April 17—Advance plans for the fiftieth anniversary meeting of the Texts State Volunteer Firemen's Association to be held in Harlingen June 8, 9 and 10, are being made by local firemen, headed by Chief B. P. Gamble. Approximately 10,000 delegates and visitors to the convention will be entertained here during the three days.

Following a quarterly meeting in Fair Park of district 5 of the association, which embraces all the lower Rio Grande Valley, committees were set to work completing the entertainment program for which only suggestions had been made. John B. Challes, insurance salesman here, is to be general chairman of plans for the convention, succeeding Sid Murray, who recently moved from Harlingen to McAllen. Mr. Challes takes charge on April 19.

B. P. Gamble, fire chief Floyd Smith first assistant chief, will be in active charge of the entertainment committee to be selected by Mr. Challes. The subcommittees include one on housing, program arrangement, amusement features, transportation, publicity, etc.

More than $6,000 has been raised to defray the expenses of the convention. Of this $1800 will be awarded as prizes in contests to be held. Chief among the contests is a reel race in which firemen's teams from various cities will compete. This is a race in which a hand-drawn hose cart is pulled from a designated starting point, the hose connected and the water turned on in the least possible time. The contest will be held on Harrison boulevard near the Burchard home.

R. F. Heyer, chief of the fire department at Cuero, and president of the state association, was in Harlingen for the meeting Tuesday to discuss plans for the convention with local officers and committeemen.

An address was made at the meeting by L. G. Nichols of Harlingen, Cameron county sheriff, relative to handling the crowds at the convention. One of Harlingen's two new hotels will be ready for occupancy by June 1, it was stated, and possibly some of the rooms of the five-story Reeswilmond hotel will be ready by that time.

At best however, San Benito and La Feria, Harlingen's nearest neighbor towns, will have to aid in housing the throngs.

The fourth day of the convention, June 11, will be devoted to automobile trips over the valley, ending up with a barbecue in Matamoros. Itinerary of the trip wil be announced later.

Business sessions of the convention will be held in the Harlingen high school auditorium, largest auditorium in the valley. It has a seating capacity of approximately 1200.

Special stress has been laid on the fact that the entire Valley is cooperating with Harlingen in entertaining the convention delegates and visitors. Harlingen has raised half the expense money, and the volunteer firemen's organization in virtually every other Valley city have raised their quota.

CONGREGATION IS FOR BIBLE FUNDAMENTALS

FOLKS ARE FUNDAMENTAL ON BIBLE TRUTHS THEY TELL E. S. HUTCHERSON

Cameron Baptist are fundamental in their Bible beliefs and opposed to modern interpretation of ancient scriptural truths.

Based on the reported criticism by Cameron modernists of the pastor, E. S. Hutcherson for his stand on strict interpretation of Bible doctrines, the congregation Sunday morning at the close of the Sunday school hour pledged endorsement of the pastor when hundreds filed by the pulpit to shake his hand tell him they endorse his kind of preaching.

The people came forward in the demonstration of faith and confidence on invitation of J. H. Du Bois, superintendent, who reported the criticisms, and the occasion was a complete surprise to the pastor who showed great depth of emotion and appreciation for his evidence of approval of his course as a strict interpretator of the Bible.

Recently in a sermon the pastor said that criticism had been voiced here for what had been termed his provincialism in adhering to the scriptures. The pastor then reiterated his belief in the Bible as written and said that he has no patience with the modernists who insist on liberal construction of great Bible doctrines and believes that any attempt to forsake the literal scriptures is dangerous and unwarranted.

The pastor on Sunday morning in well chosen words told his congregation that he is unyielding as a fundamentalist and appreciates the expressed approval of the Baptist people and others who endorse his position.

Howell Street Named By Council For Local Citizen Near Park

The street leading from the main business section along the line of the settling basins for the public water supply and through the park area connecting with 14th street has been named Howell street by the city council. This name takes the place of a former name given the street which was not satisfactory and the council honors Mr. Howell by naming the street in his honor.

The street was re-named sometime last year it develops and Mr. Howell who resides on this street near the park area is appreciative of the honor bestowed.

FORMER METHODIST MINISTER HERE UNITES WITH BAPTIST CHURCH IN LOCKHART; GIVES REASONS FOR ACT

The following statement from Rev. Walter Harbin, former pastor of the Methodist church in Cameron, will be of interest to his many friends here. This statement gives his reasons for changing his church affiliation. This paper cares nothing for the doctrinal questions involved and merely prints this statement because of his wide acquaintance here and the interest among his friends of both denominations:

In view of the steps that I am taking in becoming a member of the Baptist church, and of the fact that my ministry in the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, has resulted in a wide acquaintance among preachers and laymen throughout the great denomination, it seems due my former associates, as well as those with whom I shall henceforth be related in the Master's service, that a plain statement be made of some of the principal reasons that impelled me to this decision.

First of all let it be very clearly understood that I have no personal grievance against the Methodist church or people. During the 25 years of my ministry in that church my appointments were always generous. For the past seven years I have been one of the general evangelists, the highest evangelistic office or appointment in the gift of the church. Throughout my ministry I have enjoyed many happy friendships with preachers and laymen. I trust that these friendships may continue unchanged by a step which my mature and long considered convictions have enforced.

This step was not taken hastily, but only after weighing every element that entered into it; and only after convictions as to Scripture Truth rendered it imperative to an honest conscience. It is no light thing to change one's church relations after so many years. I have a great peace of mind and joy of heart, now that the final decision is made. There were many slow steps at first. Over and over, the ground must be tested before I felt sure that I could stand firm upon it. I could not be sure until after much and deep thought, after much prayer and many tears.

Very early in my ministry I saw, in studying the New Testament, and, indeed, all the Scriptures, that therein was set forth a way of righteousness that is unique. That righteousness is the righteousness of Christ. No other righteousness can save from inherent or actual sin and present us spotless in the sight of God. That righteousness alone can in man the image of the Lord and fit him for the glory of eternal companionship with God. That righteousness is made our righteousness by faith and faith alone. Christ Christ only, is, in every sense, the righteousness of his people. This appealed to me, at that time, more as a matter of theological speculation than as a practical experience.

I discussed these views with some of my older and more experienced brethren in the ministry; but they repelled them by implying imputed righteousness, which is abhorrent to Methodist doctrine. I dismissed them from my mind and thought upon them no more for many years. Several things brought them back to me with great force in 1919.

The awful tragedy of the World War stirred me, like many another, to the depths. We had thought that civilization would never break down again. Orators loved to declare that war was buried in the mouths of its own cannon; but now, it was all too apparent that civilization could break down, for it had come to the bloody verge of utter chaos. A barbarians flood might again submerge mankind, only the barbarians lurked no more in Northern forests. They were in our cities and we rubbed elbows with them on our streets. If there was hope for the coming years, where was it?

A vast unrest stirred the church. There were pulpits in which the Bible teaching about Satan and the destiny of the finally impenitent was held up to scorn. The inspiration of the Scriptures was called into question and even derided. A common saying was, "The Bible contains a divine revelation." Men were left to decide for themselves what the revelation consisted in, or to await the decisions of ever shifting schools of criticism. There was a powerful tendency to substitute for an infallible pope the infallible pedagogue. An article appeared in a leading church paper in which faith in the Bible as God's inspired Word was held responsible for bigotry ,persecution, witchcraft trials, human slavery and other unspeakable evils. "A thing is inspired," declared the writer, "because it inspires," and he gave that as the test. The inspiration of Shakespeare and of Byron was of the same nature as that of David and of John. The Old Testament was torn to shreds. The serpent of Eden became a snake; and God's awful curse upon him, a legend invented to gratify a childish curiosity as to why snakes crawl. Moses was a myth or a master magician. The prophets were of the same order as whirling dervishes and "rapt Isaiah's wild serphic fire" was only a dervish frenzy. The virgin birth of Jesus was openly denied. His atonement was bled white. His resurrection was attenuated to a thrill in the consciousness of His diciples. Men proclaimed publicly their faith in His DIVINITY and privately declared that they did not believe in His essential DEITY. It was even taught that the divine existed in every man as it was in Him, only in lesser degree. There were rumors of teachers in chudch schools who told their classes that a man might hope to achieve more of the divine than Jesus. A unitarian chill descended upon many evangelical altars, subduing their fires to the grey and purple ashes of materialism and ritualism.

Changes that had long worked quietly in Methodism were now flung up to the surface and out into the open light of day. In one generation the leaders of the Sunday School forces had fastened upon the church the belief utterly subversive of the seventh article of faith. This article states in clearest terms the evangelical belief in the fall of man; which, I steadfastly believe, reflects with minute exactness the teaching of the Word of God. There is nowhere an exact statement as to the present belief enforced by the Sunday School leaders, but the substance is that children are by virtue of the atonement, born children of God, and need only Christian training to maintain them in that relation. A common expression is : "Every sinner is a backslider." It was often stated, in my hearing, that Jesus said: "You must be born again" on but one occasion, and then to a mature man. Such teaching is naturally subversive of the doctrine of regeneration. There were othr fundamntal changs. A Methodist educator (referring to the clause in the ritual for the reception of members, "you profess to have a desire to be saved from your sins," etc.) declared that Methodism was only a wish. One of the bishops later declared in the public press, what was frequently stated privately, "It makes no difference what a man believe, so his life is right." A prominent pastor published in the Texas Christian Advocate in the summer of 1919 an article in which he declared that the old Methodism was gone and would never be recalled.

Stirred by the vast tragedy of the war, by the upheaval in Christian pulpits, and by the rapid and, as I saw it, radical and dangerous changes in my own church,I was driven to a new study of the Word. The Truth, so long disregarded, emerged again, with new clearness, and, now with compelling force. In the summer of 1919 I committed myself to what I believe now is the very heart of the Word of God —the substance of every covenant, the culmination of all the promises: Christ the righteousness of His people.

This is not the Armenian doctrine, and I knew it. But the Methodist church had been increasingly liberal in its attitude toward the views of its preachers; so aside from some uneasiness of mind with regard to making my own adjustments, so that I could preach my convicitions without compromise and without offense, I had no fear.

I was at that time pastor of the Methodist church at Cameron—a great church and a great people. They had just taken over the full support of one of the leading Methodist missionaries in Korea, Dr. Hardie, president of Seoul College. I had been for many years intimately connected with the Sunday School work of the Conference, I was at that time chairman of the Sunday School Board. My presiding elder, than whom no finer gentleman ever lived, had approached me with reference to becoming superintendent of Conference Sunday School work. He believed the Conference wanted me and would willingly elect me. I foresaw that, in position, I should have to repress my message, or come into conflict with many brethren whom I had come to love, so I declined the presiding elder's kind offer and applied for an evangelistic appointment. I was made general evangelist.

This incident caused me much and deep thought. I became concerned at the prospect of possible misunderstanding and conflict. I needed to confide in and get the advice, or at least the viewpoint, of someone entirely outside the circle of my connections.

Rev. B. B. Blaylock was at that time pastor of the Baptist church at Cameron. He exercised great influence because of the love men had for him. As a man and as a christian I believed in him very implicitly. I went to him. I had no very clear purpose except to get a new angle upon my problem. Perhaps, had Brother Blaylock been possessed of the proselyting spirit so often attributed changing my "church relation," but this I doubt. As it was, Brother Blaylock's modesty held me back from any very full discussion of my problem equally with my own uncertainties. I came away with an enhanced opinion of the man, but with no definite conclusions reached.

Methodism was resonant a generation ago with a controversy of which sanctification was the subject. The fires of controversy have long cooled and the adherents of the theory of sanctification as an instantaneous second work of grace labor comfortably alongside those who do not believe in or even oppose that doctrine. It appeared ,at first, that my belief that Christ was the righteous of His people might find the most hospitable surroundings among the people in Methodism who held to the second blessing theory of sanctification. I sought them out. I visited Wilmore. I studied their teachings with minute care and patience. In my early presentation of my own faith I was mistaken by friends and foes of the second blessing theory alike for a second blessing preacher. I was entirely willing to be a second blessing preacher if I could believe in sanctification as a second work of grace wrought instantly in the soul; but I could not. I shall always maintain the highest respect for many of the leaders in this movement; but I could not accept the theory. "He is made unto us wisdom and righteousness and redemption." This I believe; but sancitification, as I see it presented in the Scriptures, is a continuous process whereby we are changed "from glory to glory, into the same image, even as by the Spirit of the Lord." The theory of an instantaneous second work of grace, eradicating sin from the soul, seems to me to have nc Scriptural warrant, to contradict the facts of life, and to be frought with grave dangers of hurtful extremes and deplorable reactions.

It was with considerable difficulty that I succeeded in clearing my message from this misunderstanding. It seemed almost impossible, as a Methodist evangelist, to present the Scriptural message of Christ our righteousness without being classed, by Methodist preachers and laymen, as a second blessing preacher.

Yet, even at the first, while thus misunderstood by my own brethren, I began to notice that Baptist preachers understood me and sympathized heartily with my message. Often I was told, on entering a community, that the Baptist pastor would be unsympathetic; only to receive his warmest and most enthusiastic support when he heard me and began to understand what I was trying to tell. This was first embarrassing to me; for I had no mind to preach Baptist doctrine; and it usually grieved me that his support was accorded because of the doctrines I preached.

I early found myself in difficulties because of my preaching o fthe atonement. Years ago, in Shreveport, La., I heard Dr. Truett preach his truly great sermon on I. Peter 3:18. I thought I had never heard a clearer, stronger, or more compelling presentation of the atonement.I secured in print and studied it and made it the basis of a sermon of my own on that great subject.

I have always believed that, when Christ died on the Tree, He died in my stead. When, by faith I accepted Him, the Father accepted that sacrifice as my own sacrifice for sins and I was free from all the curse of outraged law and all the just penalities of unswerving Divine Justice. Many of my Methodist brethren did not sympathize with this faith. Talking with the editor of one of the great Advocates, I mentioned the atonement. He said: "I have no use for the substitutionary theory of the atonement." The trend of the denominational belief is powerfully toward what I regard as an eviscerated presentation of the atonement.

I found myself in increasing difficulties. I was compelled to be more and more guarded in my expressions. In a meeting, held recently, in one of the great churches in my own conference, the pastor, one of my old, warm, true friends, stated that he was astonished at the change in me. I used to teach he said, educational evangelism. It would take him a year to uproot the seed I had sown.

I was very lonely. It was more and more apparent that I could no longer feel at home and free in Methodist pulpits. There were constant repressions that crippled me in the presentation of my message. I was always uneasy, for I feared to give offense to my Master on the one hand, and I disliked to give offense to my brethren on the other.

An accidently noted paragraph in the daily press brought to mind my old friend Brother Blaylock. I began a correspondence, wherein, little by little, I opened my mind to him. In my belief as to the essential Deity of our Lord and His vicarious atonement for a race fallen in Adam, and in His imputed and imparted righteousness, and salvation by faith alone I was in entire harmony with the Baptist faith and message. The question of baptism presented little difficulty, except at some minor points. Wesley and other Methodist founders explicitly state that immersion was apostolic baptism. I never sympathized with the contention that the baptism of our Lord was His iniation into His priestly office, in which we could not follow Him; and I never used that argument when, infrequently, I attempted to present the pedo-Baptist view. The whole contention had long seemed to me of little moment. It now appears in another light. Symbols may be, and often are, of tremendous moment. The flag of our country is but a bit of silk or bunting, except for the fact that it is the flag of our country. As such a symbol it is guarded with usage most carefully devised to enhance its lofty meaning. We lift our hats to it as it passes along the street. Its position upon the wall or upon the table or stand where even the President of the United States is speaking is prescribed. Even when it drapes the casket of the nation's most honored dead its treatment must be reverent. Nothing may be laid upon it except the Word of God. The Master who said: "Thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will make thee ruler over many things," "knew what was in man," when he left him, as symbols of the faith of His church baptism and the supper of the Lord. It is significant, and it is not an accident, that Baptist churches, which have maintained these symbols so rigidly, and safeguarding them with such care, are equally tenacious of evangelical doctrines by which the religion of Christ will survive to bless mankind or perish to leave the race, hopeless, in the dark.

There were minor points of difficulty to me, which, with Christlike patience and sympathy, Brother Blaylock helped me to surmount. After long and careful consideration, and much shrinking and hesitation, I calmly decided that, as I understood the Word of God, Baptist churches approach most nearly of any religious organization the Christianity of the New Testament in doctrine and in church government. I sincerely believe that these bodies of believers are God's appointed messengers to keep alive, through these perilous times, the faith delivered to the fathers, and to hand it on to the generations that shall tread the globe when we are dust, and the light of God to man.

In addition to the debt that I shall always owe to Brother Blaylock for his sympathy and brotherly counsel and patience during the period of my long hesitation and distress of mind, I must express my equally deep gratitude to Dr. Penrod of Gonzales whose loving spirit has been more than an inspiration to me, while his clearness of vision and expression helped to clarify many things for me.

For the past my heart holds nothing but love and gratitude for my Methodist brethren. I cannot be true to them, as I cannot be true to myself, with my present deep and fixed convictions, and remain among them. They have their convictions, too, to which they are fully entitled. For the future I have no plans except to follow the leadings of the Holy Spirit and the Providence of my Heavenly Father as He may open the way into those fields where He, in His wisdom, can use me best.

DIED AT VICTORIA FOLLOWING SHORT ILLNESS

The funeral service of Mrs. Bill Locklin who died at her home at Placedo, near Victoria, on Tuesday of last week, was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Ellison at Thorndale Thursday morning with interment in the Locklin cemetery, Rev. T. C. Jester, pastor of the Baptist church at Taylor, conducting the service.

The telegram announcing the death was a great shock to relatives and many friends here, since it was not known that she was seriously sick. She was a victim of a complication of maladies which developed only a few days before her death and relatives here were not prepared for the announcement of her death. She leaves besides her husband and two daughters, Margaret and Helen, aged eight and three years respectively, her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. I. Shirocky residing on Lexington Route No. 4; five brothers and two sisters. The brothers are: Joe and Frank at Smithville; Louis at Granger; John S. at Taylor and Henry at Victoria. The sisters are: Mrs. John Hannon and Mrs. Jerry Drozda, both of Taylor all of whom attended the funeral service.

The deceased was born in Fayette County July 31, 1898, and was married to Bill Locklin Dec. 31, 1916. They made their home in Milam County until last year when they moved to Victoria county, and she had many loyal friends here whose hearts were made very sorrowful because of her untimely death and the Champion extends sympathy to the bereaved relatives and friends.—Thorndale Champion.

DREADFUL PAINS

This Lady Suffered Severely, Took Cardui, and Got Well.

Mrs. George S. Hunter, of Columbus, Ga., writes:

"I suffered with dreadful pains in my sides during . . . My side hurt so bad it nearly killed me. I had to go to bed and stay sometimes two weeks at a time. I could not work and I just dragged around the house.

"I got very thin—I went from 126 pounds down to less than 100. My mother had long been a user of Cardui and she knew what a good medicine it was for this trouble, so she told me to get some and take it. I sent to the store after it and before I had taken the first bottle I began to improve.

"My sides hurt less and I began to improve in health. . . The Cardui acted as a fine tonic and I do not feel like the same person. I am so much better. I am well now.

"I have gained 10 pounds and am still gaining. My sides do not trouble me at all.

"I wish every suffering woman knew about Cardui."

BANKERS SURVEY STATE BANK LAWS

Find That Movement for State Guaranty of Bank Has Gone Into Eclipse.

New York.—A survey of state banking laws conducted by the State Bank Division of the American Bankers Association shows marked progress toward greater uniformity and more efficient bank supervision, it is declared by Frank W. Simmonds, in charge of the division, in a statement giving the results of the investigation. He says that the movement for state guaranty of bank deposits appears to have gone into eclipse.

"The division has urged that the office of bank commissioner be freed from politics and all other functions of state government and tenure be made more secure with sufficient compensation and discretion to attract men of outstanding ability," Mr. Simmonds says. "Gratifying progress has been made during the past year in important bank legislation in many states. Idaho, Wyoming and Oregon led the list by adopting entirely new modern banking codes, while Texas and Montana have new codes in preparation.

Uniformity Among State Laws

"The survey shows that it is generally agreed there should be a high degree of uniformity among the states in laws dealing with certain fundamental principles of bank organization, regulation and supervision, and that there is a strong tendency in this direction. We find a very definite trend toward increasing the minimum capital requirements of banks to $25,000; creation of banking boards to act in an advisory capacity with the state bank commissioner, and legislation empowering bank commissioners to take complete charge of insolvent banks and to liquidate them as distinguished from liquidation through the courts.

"We find also a trend toward legislation providing for closer supervision and regulation of building and loan associations; more equitable taxation of bank stock; legislation providing for merger, conversion or consolidation of banking institutions; the legalizing and regulating of what is known as 'departmental banking'; broadening the field for investment of funds of saving banks and trust companies, and increasing the power of the bank commissioner as to granting or denying charters for new banks, and authorizing his making reasonable rules and regulations governing bank management and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof.

"Additional general characteristics of state bank legislation are for increasing the compensation of the bank commissioner and lengthening his term of office of four, five or six years, with power to appoint necessary deputies and examiners; legislation providing for the reduction of mandatory bank calls to three and reducing the number of examinations required by law annually to one; making issuance of worthless checks a misdemeanor; limiting or prohibiting an officer or director of a bank borrowing from his bank unless his collateral is approved by a majority of the board of directors, and limiting or prohibiting the opening of branch banks.

Eclipse of Guaranty Movement

"The question of state guaranty of bank deposits appears this year to have passed into an eclipse, so far as the extension of the idea is concerned, notwithstanding the fact that state guaranty laws were recommended by the governors of two states, and bills were introduced in several of the states, all of which were defeated. The general tendency, so far as state guaranty of deposits laws are concerned, is distinctly the other way, the indications being that several states now having guaranty laws are trying to free themselves from this legislation. Oklahoma has abandoned the plan of state guaranty of deposits, and this year the South Dakota legislature has repealed the state guaranty law and has referred the repeal to the people at the next general election for ratification."

BANKERS RAISE FUND OF $500,000 FOR EDUCATION

A fund of $500,000 to endow scholarships and research in economics in American colleges was recently established by the American Bankers Association in celebration of its Golden Anniversary. The intention of the Foundation is to promote education in the direction of sounder general economic understanding. Half the total sum represents subscriptions by the American Bankers Association, the American Institute of Banking and individual bankers, and the other half quotas assigned to bankers in each state. The Association gave $50,000 from its reserve funds, and the American Institute of Banking, through individual subscriptions from its members, who are chiefly clerks in the banks, subscribed $25,000. Numerous subscriptions of $5,000, $2,500 and $1,000 each were made by individual bankers in all parts of the country.

THE TRUE CITIZEN

"A man may claim he is a good citizen and be one, but what does it take to classify as a good citizen?

"My conception of true citizenship is a man who stands for the protection of his home (for his earthly heaven) for his state laws, also the national laws and who respects and not violates even the least of these laws knowingly or permit it to be done, if it is is in his power to prevent it.

"Now a man or a group of men who will violate the laws of this country is not a good citizen, and of all the violators of our present laws I have less patience with the man who poses as a good citizen and will slip around and buy booze from a bootlegger. This type of citizen is encouraging the violation of the laws of his country, and then claims to be a good citizen. Now isn't he a fine citizen?

"The bootlegger would have to go out of business if he had no buyers. Of course there are men who do not think what they are doing when they are patronizing the bootlegger, if they but knew it they are lowering the standard of morals with himself and encouraging the bootlegger to continue to run rough shod over the law planting the seed to grow criminals.

"Some people think it smart to violate the laws and not get caught but I think he needs to go to school and learn how to be a true citizen. What citizen is he who expects the protection of the flag where he lives and then knowingly violates the laws of his country. He who is guilty is not worthy of the name CITIZEN.

"Sometimes I think if it were possible it would be a good thing to have a land somewhere in the world where our officers could carry all violaters of our laws and see what kind of a country they would have. If you will notice most all violators are selfish people and it would not take them long to establish a law of might instead of right and you know how long a country like that would stand."

Two pairs of sweetbreads are parboiled in salted water. They are then placed in cold water, trimmed and split. They are then dipped in melted butter, dusted with pepper and salt and then broiled. MUCH BELOVED BOY IS VICTIM OF UNUSUAL MALADY

The people of Thorndale have become to feel that they have been passing through the "valley of the shadow of death" during the past few weeks, during which time so many of our friends and relatives have departed this life and left us, as it seems to us, when we need them most. And one of the saddest in recent years was the death of little W. I. Rouse, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Rouse, who died at his home here following an illness of only about three weeks.

About three weeks ago the little fellow, aged 12, complained of pains in his right leg, and from this point the discomfort spread upward and to most all portions of his body, being very painful at times, and especially the last three days of his life. The cause of his trouble was diagnosed by the physicians as cancer of the blood, as described in our last issue and from which there was no permanent relief. Death relieved him of his suffering about ten o'clock Sunday night with members of the family and friends at his bedside doing all human hands could for his comfort.

The funeral service was held at the Baptist church Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock with Rev. T. C. Jester of Taylor conducting the service. The service was largely attended and a very fitting tribute was that the public school was dismissed at 2 o'clock to permit his classmates and the student body to attend the funeral at 3. The pallbearers were selected from the students of the school and close personal friends. They were: Harold Summerlin, Marvin Stewart, Lyngle Barnes, Jr., and John Hall. The flower attendants were Bobbie Hall, Hugh Graham, J. D. Worley and Elmo Locklin.

The service was concluded by Rev. A. B. Chapman at the Pleasant Hill cemetery, twelve miles south of town, at 4 o'clock with many friends from Thorndale joined by others of the Pleasant Hill community being present. Besides his parents, he is survived by two full brothers, Aubrey Earl and Graves, and a half sister and half brother, Mrs. Tom Russell and Horace Rouse of Dallas.—Thorndale Champion.

"What Price Glory," the great stage play, is to be made into a movie. Edmund Lowe is to be the leading man.

Surry Boles suffered an attack of appendicts early Tuesday morning and after consulting a physician he was taken to Taylor and entered the Taylor sanitarium for an operation. Bassett Watson was at home from State University Sunday.

Mary Lou McCall, a pupil of the sixth grade of Walker's Creek School won second place in the Senior Rural Girl's declamation at district meet at Waco Saturday. She was the only contestant from Milam County to win a medal. She tied with first place winner but after deliberation the first place was given to the other contestant. We are proud of the fact that Milam County did not altogether lose and that one of our little two teacher schools that had never entered any meet before won a place in district meet.

That shows us that there are great possibilities for our rural boys and girls. This is a fact that many rural teachers overlook. Mary Lou was trained by her teachers in school and won first in County Meet. She had never entered any Declamation contest before this year.

CHURCH INDORSES PASTOR'S STAND ON THE BIBLE

Last Sunday morning Superintendent Du Bois had some words to say in regard to the stand the Pastor has taken with reference to the Bible. He said that the Deacons had frequently discussed the matter and that they had agreed among themselves that the pastor is right in standing foresquare for the old fashion fundamental principles of the Scriptures. He said that he believed the church would like to express itself in the matter and at that time he asked the pastor to stand at the front and those who indorsed his stand to come and give him his hand. Immediately the isles were filled and the people came by scores and hundreds.

The writing up of this matter is not to be misunderstood, in this proposition it was simply the church voluntarialy without any suggestion or even the knowledge of the pastor (for it was planned without his knowledge or consent) reaffirming her belief in the Word of God and the pastor in no way takes it as a boost for himself, but a declaration on the part of the church that even though the Book is under constant fire that those who came forward to give their hand still believe in it.

We will go on preaching and believing the Bible. It shall ever be the Rule and Guide to our faith and practice. Critics may come and go, Heaven and earth may pass away but the Inspired, Eternal, Infallible Word of God will stand forever.

AMONG THE CHURCHES

We are all glad of the Rockdale Revival. And the offering was splendid too. But we ought to pray and work as earnestly after a revival as before that the newly regenerated may be trained and enlisted in Christly living. By request of missionary, pastor Hall has reported the meeting on another page of the Helper.

Recently the Cameron church voted asking pastor Hutcherson to conduct the revival in his church. We believe the church will have a great meeting. Happy is that church who has a pastor who believes all the Book, and preaches it without frills, additions or substractions. All who know Bro. Hutcherson, know him to be that sort.

Pastors W. O. Angell, D. Q Jones, W. G. Jackson, J. D. Clare and W. H. Granger are all doing good work in this Association. They are feeding some flocks that would otherwise be pastorless, very likely. These are worthy and good men of the sturdy John the Baptist type.

The churches where these brethren are pastors do not show the right appreciation of them. They ought to pay them more so as to untie their hands from the plow and debts, if they have any, so they can fulfill that Holy Scripture, "But we will give ourselves CONTINUALLY to prayer and the ministry of the Word." Acts 6:4. Brother deacons, this is one task committed into your hands and ordained out of heaven, that you loose Gods called men from secular work to preach the precious truths, yea, the unsearchable riches of this Holy Treasure.

Three churches have called pastors during April. Walker's Creek called Bro. Odell Jameson, a young man from Baylor. He is an excellent young man and dependable. He has accepted and took offering for Co-operative Work on his first appointment.

Rev. W. P. Elliott accepts the call to Milano, and is moving on that field this week. A hearty welcome awaits him there and by the entire Association.

Union, Smyrna, Walkers Creek and Post Oak have asked the missionary to hold their summer revivals.

Twenty-one churches of the twenty-eight have taken their offerings for the Spring Round-Up.

Bro. R. A. Clifton, returned missionary from Brazil and who is now pastor at Livingston, Texas did us untold good the few days he spent in our Association. We who heard him can never get away from his intensely interesting message. How can we be apathetic and indolent and at the same time be Christly when the earth needs Christ more than any thing else? Home, with all its meaning and blessing and sacredness to us, holds no thing for Christless Brazil. Indeed Bro. Clifton tells us that they have no such word there as home. A very large per cent of all the children born in Brazil are born out of wedlock.

A good per cent of the Spring Offerings go direct to Foreign Missions. We have in Milam County about 3000 baptist. Surely $3000 would be a small offering for us. That would be only one dollar each. May we do that which pleases our Master in this as in all things else. And remember too, that we have only 2 more Sundays before the Convention meets in Houston. Bro. pastor and brethren lets all have a part in this urgent work.

HAIL AS LARGE AS HEN EGGS FELL IN SAN GABRIEL SUNDAY

Reports from the San Gabriel community state that hail as large as hen eggs accompanied by rain in that section Sunday afternoon, doing considerable damage to windows and automobile tops, as well as growing crops. Felton Camp gives it as his opinion that 20 per cent of the hail stones were as large as hen eggs. Paul Graves of the Sharp community says over the telephone that the hail in his communit ywas not as large but was very thick, ranging in size of the average marble to larger. The hail and rain seemed to be heavier further towards Buckholts and over near Cameron. Only a slight rain fell at Thorndale and the hail was of small pebbles and did not fall longer than three minutes. Very little damage was done by the hail stones.—Thorndale Champion.

The Mexican Baptist church of Cameron will have a ten days series of services at Watts, Maysfield and Cameron for the purpose of hearing ex-priest C. Griscitti, now a Baptist Missionary of Runge, Texas, Karnes County. Bro. Griscitti was for 17 years a student at Rome, and was sent to China as a Catholic Missionary, and later to Mexico. Afterwards he was in Lampasas and chanced to hear Dr. George Truett preach. Here he was converted and now he is at work in Karnes, Dewitt and Goliad Counties, where there are hundreds of Mexicans. Bro. Griscitti will be with us at the above date, and we are praying that the Lord will send us a great blessing during this meeting.

THORNDALE HAS 12.88 INCHES RAINFALL SINCE FIRST OF THE YEAR

With the rain of Tuesday evening and night and a heavy rain of Wednesday morning 1.87 1-2 inches of rain was recorded by the gauge at the Champion office, making a total of 12.88 inches since January 1 of this year. To hear the comments about the rain now would suggest to a stranger that this section was never known to have a drouth. It is getting late to plant corn and some farmers desired to plant more corn but this land will probably be used for small grain and all will be well at the end of the year.—Thorndale Champion.

SUCCESS IN AMERICA AN OPEN HIGHWAY

How Four Boys of Humble Origin Have Become Chiefs of the Greatest Financial Organization in the World.

Broad highways of achievement are wide open to all in America no matter how humble their beginning, it is brought out by a writer in Forbes Magazine, telling of the successive elevation of poor boys to the chieftainship of the most powerful association of financial power in the world.

"Nowhere is opportunity so democratic as in caste-free America, nowhere is recognition for faithful service so little conditioned by inherited position and wealth," the article says. "The bounty of America in bestowing her rewards of great success upon those of modest origin is again notably manifest in the rise of Oscar Wells to the presidency of the American Bankers Association.

"The son of a tanner, John H. Puelicher, was elected to this eminence in 1922. Circumstances ended his public schooling in the seventh year and he went to work in a carpet store in Milwaukee. At sixteen he entered a bank as a clerk, rising step by step until he became president. Recognition of his abilities as a banker and civic service through public education in sound economic understanding brought him the highest reward from his profession.

"A former country school teacher, Walter W. Head, born in a farm hamlet in Western Illinois, was elected president of the association in 1923. He gave up teaching and a salary of $75 to enter banking at $40 a month in a small Missouri town. He subsequently became president of a bank in Omaha, the largest in Nebraska and a dozen neighboring states. The position he occupied in advancing agricultural welfare during the period of depression led to his being called the 'Granger President of the American Bankers Association.'

"From Irish immigrant lad to supreme head of banking in America epitomizes the career of William E. Knox, president of one of the largest savings banks of the country in New York. His business career began as an office boy in a publishing house, and he later entered the bank as a clerk. Experience with humble people in their problems of personal finance and his inculcation of economy in all matters attracted country-wide attention.

"Oscar Wells, who rises in 1925 as successor of these men, was born in an old weather-boarded log cabin house in the Missouri River bottoms of Platte County, Missouri. He became an orphan when three years of age, losing his parents in an epidemic that ravaged the countryside. He passed under the care of an uncle, head of a small country bank in Platte City, a town of a few hundred inhabitants, growing up on a farm and receiving his early education in a rural school. He later entered Bethany College, West Virginia, but at the end of his junior year he had to quit college and go to work in the bank."

His subsequent career was one of steady progress, first to higher positions among small country banks, then to larger city banks in Texas, where he rose to the top. In 1914 he was chosen first governor of the Dallas Federal Reserve Bank and served through the opening period of the establishment of that institution. He resigned to become president of a bank in Birmingham, Alabama, which has grown under his administration to be one of the largest and most successful institutions in the South.

HUGE GROWTH IN SCHOOL SAVINGS

New York.—School savings in the United States for the year 1924-1925 increased in aggregate bank balances by $5,500,000, with a growth of 630,000 in the total number of pupils participating, it is shown in reports made to the American Bankers Association, which declares that the returns encourage belief in the permanence of school savings as a part of the educational program in the public schools.

During the year the number of reporting school savings systems increased from 683 in 742 districts to 769 in 1,557 districts, the number of schools from 9,080 to 10,163, the number of pupils participating from 2,236,326 to 2,869,497, the deposits from $14,991,535.40 to $16,961,560.72 and the bank balances from $20,435,144.64 to $25,913,431.15, says W. E. Albig, in charge of the Association's savings activities.

Since 1920, the first year for which comprehensive statistics are available, the number of schools having school savings banking has increased 271.4 per cent, the enrollment in school savings districts 278.9 per cent, participants 520.2 per cent, deposits 506.1 per cent and bank balances 516.8 per cent.

Tells How Corn and Grain Crops Survive Frost and Freezes

College Station, Texas, April 26—In many counties, the cold weather has seriously retarded the planting of corn or where corn has been planted, cold weather and frost have, in many instances killed out the stand, advises Chas. H. Alford, Director of Extension Service, A. & M. College of Texas. The situation is growing somewhat serious, and many farmers are contemplating abandoning their corn acreage and planting the land in cotton. The College feels that this would be a serious mistake, and would encourage the replanting of corn where necessary, and the planting of such other crops as will insure an abundance of forage.

Frost damage to corn is never as serious as it appears. It is seldom that corn is absolutely killed by frost, and in many instances, it will sprout out quickly and recover sufficiently to make a good crop. If there is sufficient corn left in the field to insure two-thirds of a stand, it would be better to leave it and work it out, rather than to plow it up and replant it.

Late Planting. While the season for planting corn is getting late, if measured by the calendar at the same time, it should be remembered that this has been a very backward spring, and the season is not late when the growth of other crops is considered. Much corn land was replanted last week an,d it is advised that the planting be continued until a full crop has been planted. If the land has been bedded up for a considerable length of time, it would probably be best to cultivate the beds before planting. This will kill out the grass, weeds and give the corn a better chance to make a rapid growth. Don't plant in a water furrow. The ground is too cold and the corn will be too late in coming up. In the order of their preference, the varieties for late planting are: Surecrop, Chisholm, Ferguson's Yellow Dent, and, in the southern part of the state, Thomas.

Forage Crops. Sudan grass and sorghum should be planted as soon as possible for forage & hay. These crops can be planted either in rows or broadcasted. If planted in rows 36 inches apart; use 30 pounds of cane seed or 5 pounds of sudan grass seed per acre. If sown broadcast, use 100 pounds of cane seed or 20 pounds of sudan grass seed. When planting in rows, in order to put as much as 30 pounds of sorghum seed per acre in rows 36 inches apart, it will be necessary to use a cotton plate in the planter, or drill an extra large number of holes in the corn plate.

Grain crops for late planting. In the event that late planting of corn should fail to get a stand after the first of May, it would be advisable to plant grain sorghums. These crops do fairly well in East Texas, if we have a dry season. Some of the best types of grain sorghums are: Standard Black Hull Kaffir, Dwarf Yellow Milo and Spur Feterita. In the event these crops do not make grain on account of blighting from the effect of the midge, they will, nevertheless, make an abundance of good forage.

The Two Millionth Chevrolet Produced

The two millionth Chevrolet produced by the Chevrolet Motor Company recently climbed the steps of the new state capitol building at Jackson, Mississippi, while members of the adjoining state legislature viewed the performance.

A heavy rain preceding the event made the climb at a 45 degree angle, hazardous, but failed to scatter a crowd of more than 7,000 which waited throughout the downpour. Burned patches of rubber on the steps marked the progress of the coach up the steep incline, indicating the power necessary to make the ascent.

The climb had been negotiated only once before and several powerful types of cars recently failed to arrive at the top.

Many members of the legislature, themselves Chevrolet owners, greeted G. Porter Dukes, service manager of the Capitol Chevrolet company, local distributors, as he reached the summit of the capitol entrance. Several ornamental stone pylons on the ascent caused the car to proceed slowly and added to the difficulty of the feat.

After once making the climb, the car backed down, demonstrated the holding power of its brakes, and then repeated the demonstration. The car was a regular stock model and because of being the 2,000,000 Chevrolet produced, had been shipped to various cities of the country for exhibition. The Capitol Chevrolet Company planned the stunt as a final showing of the car before selling it to a resident of Jackson.

A parade of several hundred Chevrolet automobiles, driven by their owners and headed by the mounted police division of Jackson and the demonstration car, preceded the exhibition at the capitol. Mayor Scott, City Commissioner Hawkins and R. F. Hicks, assistant Chevrolet zone sales manager gave brief talks on completion of the ascent.

CAMPING SITE AND BATHING BEACH TO OPEN

BATHING REVUE TO ATTRACT HUNDREDS TO IDEAL SWIMMING RESORT ON RIVER

A bathing revue in which hundreds of girls are expected to participate for prize will feature the opening of the new swimming beach and tourist park on Little River at the new bridge on May 28.

Cameron's need of a well equipped tourist camping ground has been supplied in this enterprise.

Cecil Cone and John Burke promoting the beach and camp grounds have provided in their program of improvements, a Delco lighting system and will build tables, ovens and provide running water to all parts of the five acre camp ground which spreads along the river under towering pecan trees and is free from overflow.

The Commercial Club has given its endorsement of the project and will assist the managers in bringing this advantage to the attention of the people of the state.

The tourist park and swimming beach is located within five minutes ride of the business district on the new road leading to the bridge. Not only will the management provide the accommodations outlined above but will have a store to supply campers as well as a filling station for motor cars.

The bathing revue is a feature never before attempted here and the management is receiving many inquiries and have been assured of a successful co-operation in every way. Efforts will be made to bring thousands of people to Cameron on that day. There will be a band concert at the river and other free entertainments with refreshments and a general good time is assured for all.

THE CLOCK MARKS TIME

(By Nora Hefley Mahon)

The clock marks time, and soon they'll take you, Dear,
Out of this house forever, I'll be left
With thoughts of you, I'd keep your spirit near,
For I shall weep, and moan and be bereft.
On out the gate, into the road beyond;
And I shall follow in a hearse's track:
And all your life, so sweet to me, so fond,
Will tug at heart strings and I'll call you back.
And you will come, and, ere you wing your flight,
You'll hover o'er me, 'till a calmness springs
Within my soul, then pass into God's light,
And leave me with the sadness, sorrow brings.

THORNDALE HAS 12.88 INCHES RAINFALL SINCE FIRST OF THE YEAR

With the rain of Tuesday evening and night and a heavy rain of Wednesday morning 1.87 1-2 inches of rain was recorded by the gauge at the Champion office, making a total of 12.88 inches since January 1 of this year. To hear the comments about the rain now would suggest to a stranger that this section was never known to have a drouth. It is getting late to plant corn and some farmers desired to plant more corn but this land will probably be used for small grain and all will be well at the end of the year.—Thorndale Champion.

FEED CROPS

Authorities recommend the replanting of Corn.
In the order of their preference, the varities for late planting are: Surecropper, Chisholm and Ferguson's Yellow Dent.

They also recommend that in the event that late planting of corn should fail to get a stand after 1st of May, it would be advisable to plant grain sorghums.

Present conditions warrant the planting of a surplus FEED CROP, rather than a surplus cotton crop.
